

KLove is the only Christian station I can currently pick up, or is at least the most popular by far. If the station has to change to a different broadcasting method, then I may not be able to pick it up. It is important that there is a station that appeals to all ages of Christians. We have rights too, and to listen to a Christian radio station should be included in that right as freedom of speech (and listening).
Thank you.